

Short-term goal:

I will continue to attend more professional development workshops in New York City or online training courses. It can help me grow personally and learn how to guide some other new teachers in the field.

I am also an HSK tester administer in a Chinese school that is located in Long Island, NY. Therefore, I will also need to be more familiar with all the proficiency exams. I will learn how to teach students to be more comfortable when they are taking the Chinese Proficiency Test. At the same time, I want to help high school students to pass Chinese AP test.

I also plan to get OPI training in the future.

Long-term goal:

My dream is teaching Mandarin in the U.S, in U.K, in Korean, in Singapore, etc. I'm so glad to be one of the 2018 UVa STARTALK teacher fellows and learn with many other inspired teachers.
