

Future Professional Goals

The UVa Startalk program taught me many useful teaching theories and practical teaching methods. As I just graduated from university, it is very crucial for me to anticipate a highly renowned program in order to improve my teaching ability.

In the future, Evoking the learning inspiration of Chinese of my students is the first goal. Most of my students are beginner learners and it is important to let them feel learning Chinese is not as hard as they heard before. At the same time, I want to lay a solid foundation at their beginning learning period. It is essential for them to continue learn intermediate and advanced level Chinese.

My second goal is improving my teaching skills and ability through my daily teaching. As my students have different backgrounds and mother language, I need to use various teaching methods and plans according their language habits and thinking models. It is a huge challenge for me and I must devote many time and energy to communicate with each of my students. So far, what I need most is to accumulate teaching experiences and use different methods to solve students' learning problems.
