

July 3, 2013

Qinying Chen Coleman

2013 StarTalk Teacher Academy

I graduated from Fujian Normal University in China. I was a teacher and an education administrator while I lived in China.

In 2004, I immigrate to the U.S. and worked as a Chinese language teacher in public and private school at New Jersey and California for over 6 years. As an experienced teacher, I am able to incorporate current cultural and life value aspects into my daily career to influence my students. I continued my education at Rutgers University of New Jersey, Nanjing University of China and Fairleigh Dickson University of New Jersey for teaching Chinese as second language.

I considered that participating 2013 UVA Startalk Program is a great opportunity to think deeper about my teaching. I believe after the 3 weeks training, I will become more as a professional Chinese teacher and will be able to give my students even better experience in learning Chinese. I am thankful for all the people who helped me to improve my teaching skill.

I would like to use my passion for unlocking educational potential with proven teaching techniques to make a new successful school year.