Professional Goals

As a language instructor, I will focus on communication, facilitating the development of knowledge and skills in Chinese language and culture, integrating language acquisition with content from other subject areas, and preparing students to be lifelong learners and users of the skills, information, and insights they gain.

As a Chinese program facilitator, I will work with local Chinese communities and organizations; build academic relationships overseas in Mandarin speaking countries and regions; create real life opportunities for students to use the language.

For my continuing education, I will participate in curriculum design with other teachers in the district at least 5 days a year; attend nationwide conference once every year; learn from other educators; and bring it back to my school and district.

Here are my research interests: technology integrated language curriculum design, human computer interaction and computational linguistics.
