

In order to teach students well and meet their needs, my professional growth and development become very important and so essential. By participating the teaching conference, seminar and taking summer training class, I am able to learn new teaching techniques and ideas, new technology of teaching, exchange our teaching experiences and share the successful stories as well. These ongoing learning myself benefit my students, it allows me to bring new and fresh ideas into my classroom each year and improve my personal style and let me keep up with the current technology in related to teaching. I believe part of my success is due to my continue efforts to improve myself by actively participating and ongoing professional training.

I believe the passion to teach, the dedication and commitment to students are the foundation for accountability in teaching profession. To let my students flow through a learning process, that is profound, interesting, heart opening, and inspirational, I will continue my professional development and apply innovative teaching methods and new ideas in the classroom, to make learning Chinese fun, interesting and rewarding.
