

Personal Goals

Hui Chen

I believe that each student has the ability to learn Chinese. I also understand that each student is unique and that students learn in different ways. Therefore, my primary teaching goal is to effectively teach all my students by using appropriate teaching methods, instill in them a love of learning Chinese, help them become life-long learners and successful members of society.

To fulfil my long term goals, I have list following target areas as my short term goals:

- More student centered activities
I will use more student centered communicative activities in my classrooms.
- Use authentic materials
I will use more authentic materials following the CALL-IT
- Target language
I will increase the usage of the Chinese language in teaching and try to reach the goal of 90% target language.
- Maximizing the students' language proficiency.
I will use i+1 principle, through input flood and pushed output to maximize my students' language proficiency.
- Task based curriculum design
I will enhance my standards-based thematic curriculum by designing meaningful tasks.
I will use IPA approach in my curriculum
- Technology Integration
I will keep learning new technology and incorporate them into my teaching.
- Professional development
I will strive to attend professional training. Such as meetings, conferences, seminars and online or in class courses to keep myself updated with the latest educational theories, strategies and technologies.
