

Professional Goals

My immediate professional goal is to integrated technology into student-centered, immersion lesson plan. To achieve this goal, I will build my collections of my image database, which include authentic and cartoon pictures. Meanwhile, I will research, test and integrate third party Chinese language interactive whiteboard software system, develop and implement thematic, reusable lesson plans.

My second short-term goal is to implement LinguaFolio. I attended to 2010 intensive ten days summer workshop in University of Nebraska at Lincoln. This is first time for me to expose this new way to teaching world language. I was convinced that LinguaFolio will help me students setup smart goals and motivate my students, engage in my students in learning process, they will responsible for they language output. I will integrate the backward curriculum design with LinguaFolio next semester.

My long-term goal is to help our school district sustain, expand the Chinese language program and establish the best Chinese program in New Jersey. I will implement meaning-based, student-centered teaching approaches and use the best practices in teaching Chinese. I will also use authentic teaching materials and total immersion approach to enhance student productivity and efficiency. I will work on National certified teacher to advance my teaching career. Meanwhile, I will gain strong support from school community, which I need communicate with parents and build a strong network with local community, use all kinds of communication channels to promote Chinese program.
