

Future professional goals
Hongying Jia

My short-term goal would be getting Chinese teaching credential this year.

I hope I can join more Chinese teaching program in the future years and improve my teaching skills.

Getting a master degree is another professional goal, too. I will take some credit classes either from George Mason University or University of Virginia. I plan to get another master degree of teaching.

I will keep teaching in high school this year. But I plan to explore the teaching chance in college or for adults.
