

赵宏 Eliabeth Hong Zhao-Kanode

Have taught English for 11 years in China, before coming to the US in 2002, with some business world working experiences, and switched to Chinese teaching since then. Realized one of many girls' dream of being a flight attendant in the US, even though briefly.

Always pay attention to learning. I believe in the lifelong learning, esp. for teachers, because we play a key role in shaping the students' future.

Love to travel, enjoy yoga, dance (new fever in Zumba), swimming, photography, and enjoy to sit down at the beach and watch the sunrise every year.

And, most important, love my family (both Chinese and American), my students, friends, and colleagues. Enjoy dedicating time and expertise to various volunteer service.
