

Professional Goal

To become an excellent educator is my life-long pursuit. However, I need to go through several stages to attain my goal.

First, I would like to gain rich experiences in teaching in various school settings. I understand that the situation in K-12 schools is different from that in the universities and colleges. Furthermore, the independent schools are not the same as public schools. Hence, obtaining hands-on experiences in those school settings will deepen my understanding of teaching methods and approaches.

Second, I need to participate in as many as training programs. I know that my knowledge and skills are limited. By participating in teacher training programs, I can learn a lot from other experienced teachers. Their experiences can inspire me and guide me in the right direction.

Last but not least, after I obtain rich experiences in teaching, I would like to do the administrative work in the school. I hope that I can become a school Principal one day. Additionally, I would like to work in the Department of Education on the state or national level. I wish I could effect the change to improve the educational system.
