

Professional Goals:

Embracing teaching Chinese as a professional, I strongly believe that a deep understanding of Chinese language and culture is indispensable for students who want to be connected and interact with today's multilingual and multicultural community. My mission is to instill inspiration and empowerment to students who are motivated and confident in developing their linguistic and cultural competence.

There are five areas I would like to work on in the coming school year. First, create standard-based curricula and materials in alignment with the Proficiency Guidelines advocated by ACTFL. Second, collect and develop authentic instructional materials. Third, deliver effective instruction by engaging student through the activities leading to the performance tasks in a communicative and authentic context. Fourth, appropriately implement best practices for effective class management. The last but not the least, I will be continuing working on how to use Chinese exclusively in the classroom.
